Andy Davies

Part art installation, part public forum, Albertastan reflects upon various moments, events and facts of the Alberta government, particularly the leadership, using satire, statistics, past media, humour and opinion. Mixing media, including painting, drawing, digital graphic, video and audio works, the public will have an opportunity, via a “speaker’s corner” to comment their thoughts on the history of Alberta politics, as well as on the work itself.

BEAMS

Boreal Electroacoustic Music Society

Thursday June 23, 12:00 - 2:00

Saint Crispin’s Improv Collective with Windrow Performance dancers. Don Ross leads the musicians, Amber Borotsik leads the dancers.

Tuesday July 5 noon to 2:00

BEAMS All-Stars with Windrow Performance

Mile Zero Dance

Mile Zero Dance has been involved in land-based art that uses the body to inquire into different states of being. Traveling through and around Churchill Square, Mile Zero Dance will perform Remote Controls, roving pieces, where characters inhabit a Victorian, industrial, yet technological world, often referred to as steampunk.

Performances: Monday, June 27 & Wednesday, June 29 2:30 – 3:15

Bonnaventure James

Making friends with computers at a young age, Bonnaventure clashes analog samples with digital noise with interesting results.

U22 Youth

U22 is a collection of talented, promising young musicians, aged 22 and under. Founded and created by singer and songwriter Rhea March, U22 offers a venue and mentorship to harness and develop the talent of these young musicians.

UN

A new electro-psychedelic-pop band from Montreal that promises a super intense, hot and fun show!

Lindsay Brandon

Lindsay Brandon is a multidisciplinary artist and musician from Calgary who creates multi-layered songs with live vocal mixing overtop that sound contemporary and exciting.

Mercury Audio

Laurie Fuhr is a poet, musician and magazine editor from Calgary that will mix poetry and music. Joining her will be Edmonton poet LAURIE MACFAYDEN, a longtime performer on Edmonton’s Raving Poets open-mic stage, and regional finalist in the 2008 CBC National Poetry Faceoff.

Midnight Yoga for Alcoholics

Featuring Cen Sinclair and Kirk Miles, together they mix poetry with the blues guitar and penny whistle, resulting in sound fusion and making the culture with words.

Kemo Treats

G-Wizard and Smoovie II Smoov define the satirical rap genre with a unique blend of clever, humorous rhymes over smooth west coast synths and beats.

The Awesome Hots

Armed with a ukulele, guitar and Hamper Writer (typewriter and laundry hamper), they put a spin on old-time folk with cabaret theatrics.

Moonshine Ramblers

Hailing from Halifax, Moonshine Ramblers offer their take on folk music by fusing bluegrass with country, rock and blues.

Stolen Organ Family Band

Creating low budget rock symphonies with some psychedelic country thrown in, they continuously surprise audiences by their attempt at strange pop music.

Ballgag n’ Chain Gang

With 12 instruments, including horns, lap steels, didgeridoo banjo, and 3 lead vocals they take what is great about music, mix it together, boil it down, and run it through some copper pipes and come out with tunes that are high in proof and sweet in flavor.

“Voices of the City” – led by Ryan Beauvais

You won’t see them. You’ll hear their voices. Edmonton itself will begin to speak as you enjoy Canada Day afternoon on Churchill Square. At 3:30 p.m., a spoken-word event will appear.

Paperplanes and Dragonboats

Their music finds a place of existence somewhere between Grizzly Bear, Chad VanGaal and Little Joy drawing inspiration from the ocean, times o’ heartbreak, and everything in between.

Jesse D and Jacquie B

Hard-hitting folk/rock with jazzy stops with sweet harmonies, delicate electric guitar and keys in the mix along with charming accordion flares, this juxtaposition of styles makes for an engaging live show.
